

NO TRUTH IN IT.

The following communication did not reach us until last Thursday, the 12th inst., the gentleman to whom care it was intrusted having neglected to forward it. We publish it with great pleasure, and are rejoiced to find that the paper which it contradicts was totally untrue.—EWS.

BRECKENRIDGE COUNTY, Nov. 7. The Breckenridge News ought to be a reliable source of information for the editor a divine of no small repute, and is the journal for a county that is above an average of the counties composing our grand old State—that has no superior in the great union of States—and last, but not least, situated in Cloverport, which boasts of being behind no city in the West—in her size for commercial, literary or moral attainments. Then why should the Kentucky Yeoman conclude, with all these facilities that it would take the greatness of D. H. Murray to drive the wheel and steer to have some apprehensions, even then, that the shaft might break and a failure follow? Will he! No, not if she will adhere to the following good advice, given by illustrations.

Mr. A., one of the good and old citizens of Breckenridge county, once said to Mr. B. his near neighbor: "Mr. B. if you had all your life worked as hard, and taken as much pains and spent as many sleepless nights to have paid your debts, as you have in the evasion of 'em, what a difference you would have been, ere this, one of the richest men in all the country. Now, if the Breckenridge News will make as great an effort, and take as much pains to publish true reports as they are taking to give circulation to false reports, it will be one of the best little sheets in the State." As for the report about the killing of Robertson and Buchanan, Robertson has not been in Grayson county since about the 15th of September, and I, Robertson, hereby state that I have not seen Buchanan since August, and more, there never was in our lives anything like a quarrel—not what could be called a cross word.

Adventures of a Fish-Hook.

A thoughtful housewife started a fish-hook on a strange round of adventures not long ago, and brought some people into curious juxtapositions as a result of her pains. Finding that some of the papers she thought were worth reading, it might need to be a new set of fingers. Accordingly, she went to the store. The following is a true story: A fish-hook, while patiently waiting for its owner, was in the hands of a man who had been a slave of the stone and part, burned coal that had accumulated there, suddenly found a fish-hook in the fleshy part of his thumb. He called a surgeon, and when the hook had been removed, he put it in his waistcoat pocket, thinking to show it to his friends and neighbors. After breakfast he went out, and while on the street met a colored woman, who passed him with a high bow and a rapid pace. The two people suddenly came to an embarrassing halt. The hook had hooked its way through the side of the gentleman's pocket, and its point fastened itself in the waist of the jaunty maiden. This afforded great delight to the two people who gathered to the spot from all directions. He, leaving himself from the hook, the gentleman saw his captive draw away from him and pass down the street. A policeman attempted to stop her, but before he had succeeded in inducing her to return, he found the fish-hook had lodged itself in the hollow of his hand. At this point the strange, eventful history of a fish-hook draws to a close. The policeman found a surgeon to extract him from his bleeding hand, and then deposited it in the station house to show to the public.—New York Observer.

It is related that one evening in 1861, a General Garibaldi was going home, he met a Sardinian shepherd tending the flock of a lamb out of his flock. Garibaldi at once turned to his staff and announced his intention of securing the mountain in search of the lamb. A grand expedition was immediately organized. Lanterns were brought, and old soldiers of many a campaign started off full of zeal to hunt the fugitive. The no lamb was found, and the soldiers were ordered to their beds. Next morning Garibaldi's attendant found him in bed fast asleep. He was surprised at this, for the General was always up before anybody else. The attendant went off softly and returned in half an hour. Garibaldi still slept. After another delay the attendant walked in. The General rubbed his eyes, and so did his attendant when he saw the old warrior take from under the covering the last lamb, and bid him convey it to the shepherd's hut. The General had kept up the search through the night, until he had found it.

An English paper states that in the New Testament Revision Committee it was proposed to get rid of the word "penury" as giving a wrong idea of the word "poverty," and to make it "debt." He gave every man a penny. But to this a witty dean objected that there might be confusion with a penny, and poor and unlearned persons must and suppose it can be got so easily. It was also proposed to alter to tax-collector the word "publican," who is defined by Dr. Johnson, "A man that keeps a house of general entertainment." But respectable collectors of rates and taxes might also object to be always associated with taverns in the popular mind, and against them there is already sufficient prejudice.

A. S. Wilson, an English scientist, has made an elaborate calculation to show the marvelous industry of bees. Starting with the ascertained fact that 125 pounds of clover yield approximately 15,400 pounds of sugar, and that the proportion of sugar in honey may be roughly estimated at 75 per cent, he finds that 2,000,000,000 flowers must be visited by bees to obtain one pound of honey from that source.

Eugenia, Eugenia, will you still mount up on wearing the hair of another woman up on your head? "Alphonsine, Alphonsine, do you still mount upon wearing the skin of another girl upon your foot?"

The only people who really enjoy bad health, are the doctors.

Quinn: "Why will men smoke common tobacco, when they can buy Marking Bird's, Golden Leaf Cigarettes, at the same price?"
